SPEND MILLIONS ON A RAILROAD

Plans for the Largest Road in the Territory on Hawaii.

WILL OPEN IMMENSE TRACTS

Wall Franchise Is for a Road One-Third Around the Big Island.

Plans for the longest railroad in the Territory of Hawaii were made known yesterday. The line, when built, will reach one-third of the way around the Island of Hawaii and open for development immense tracts of land adaptable for the growing of sugar, cotton, tobacco, pineapples and all other agricultural products to which the soil is suited. The line will reach from Hona-kahou, on the northwest side of the island, to Pahala, on the southeast side, following closely the government road nearly all the way.

The right of way has been surveyed, and W. A. Wall of this city, who made the survey and will doubtless engineer the entire project, has received a cablegram from Washington announcing that the franchise has passed the house of representatives and has been read twice in the senate. There is no reason to fear, it is said, the result of the senate's action, which will be made known in the next few days. There has been no opposition to the franchise as yet, and the likelihood is there will be none.

Mr. Wall stated yesterday that he was not at liberty to announce the particulars regarding the personnel of the prospective board of directors of the company. He also declined to say what the capitalization of the company would be. In fact, he said that although nearly all the plans of the promoters of the enterprise had already been made, the name of the company and its capitalization had not been decided upon definitely, and he did not want to make known the particulars until the franchise is passed by the senate and signed by the President.

The charter of the company, Mr. Wall said, is being prepared at the present time.

The country through which the railroad will pass is practically undeveloped, and the new line will be the means of opening up a large area of the richest land in the territory.

The main point on the line will be Kaunaloa. That place will be the terminus of two divisions, one of which will extend northward to Hona-kahou, and the other southward to Kaula, thence along the government road to the plains of Manuka, Kahuka and Pahala, where the line will run south of the wagon road, as that section of country is not adaptable to agriculture. On the southeast corner of the island the railroad will pass through several large sugar plantations, including Waiohinu, Naelehu, Hiles, and the terminus will be at Pahala.

Most of the land through which the line will be built on the west side of the island is well suited to the growing of pineapples, coffee, tobacco and cotton. At the present time the tobacco and pineapple industries are making some headway, but only in the country adjacent to Kaunaloa, as that is the only place where fruit and other agricultural products can be shipped from.

The railroad itself will cost several millions, and the capital required to develop the land will doubtless be as much or more. It is expected that the sugar industry in that part of the island will be helped by the new road, as in some places transportation facilities are by no means as good as they might be.

The cost of constructing the line will be comparatively low, it is believed, as there will be only a few small cuts and a single bridge. Stations will be built wherever there is traffic enough to justify the company in establishing stopping places. The government road will serve as a sort of "feeder" for the railroad.

Mr. Wall said the construction work would probably begin as soon as the franchise is granted and the final plans can be decided upon. A large number of workmen and teams will be employed when the work of building the road is begun.

It is predicted by prominent business men of the Territory that within a few years there will be a railroad system reaching all the way around the Island of Hawaii.

YOUNG ROOSEVELT'S WEDDING TODAY

NEW YORK, June 20.—The wedding of Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., will take place today in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Invitations have been sent out for several weeks, and from the number of friends who have made arrangements to be present it is certain the church will be crowded.

There will be no maid of honor, but instead a matron of honor. She will be the former Mrs. Elizabeth Betron, who is to be married on June 1 to Edward Fehsenstock.

The bridesmaids will be Misses Ethel Roosevelt, Jennette Alexander, Harriet Alexander, Jean De Lano and Jessie Millington-Drake.

Kermat Roosevelt will be best man. The ushers will be Monroe Robinson, George Roosevelt, Frank M. H. Roche, Gratton Chapman, John W. Catter, Eli Hotz Cutler, Hamilton Fish, Jr., E. Morgan Gilman and Fulton Cutting. Some of the ushers were former college chums of young Roosevelt.

MOLOKAI TABU TO POLITICIANS

Board of Health Will Allow No More Electioneering at Settlement.

The day of the politician at the Ieper settlement is past. No more shall Tearful Willie appear before the assembled masses of the great hospital and shed tears in his own behalf while he solicits the votes of the inmates. No longer shall the political orators mount the stump on Molokai and plead for vindication, endorsement and enthusiasm. The board of health has sat down on that proposition which has so long been a blot on the fair name of Hawaii.

The disapproval of the board of health is directly brought about by a petition from Tearful Willie Coelho, erstwhile and hopeful senator from Maui and Molokai, that he and four other politicians be allowed to visit the settlement and speak on the prohibition proposition and incidentally in favor of the reelection of Tearful Willie.

The board says, nay, nay, and at the next meeting will undoubtedly say it in still stronger terms through a resolution that will be introduced to put an end to the evil.

President Mott-Smith is particularly opposed to electioneering on Molokai, and he does not hesitate to say so in vigorous terms. Every two years, he says, the politicians have been allowed to invade the settlement with their pleas and their oratory, and as a consequence the minds of the people of the settlement are upset for months afterward and they are rendered discontented and hopeless. Mr. Mott-Smith says he is determined to put an end to this pernicious practice, and to this end a resolution will be introduced at the next meeting of the board which will, according to the sentiments expressed by other members of the board, be passed without dissent.

Coelho's immediate proposition concerns the plebiscite, Tearful Willie being, for political purposes, an ardent Anti. But Mr. Mott-Smith says that the settlement already has, to all intents and purposes, prohibition, and he can not see why the inmates should be disturbed and upset by the tearful pleas of a politician.

Tearful Willie also stated in his petition that, as he expects to be a candidate for reelection to the senate at the next election, he would like to be allowed to say a few tearful words in the prohibition proposition. But this pitiful appeal has failed to enlist the sympathies of the cruel board of health, and Willie must keep out.

Tearful Willie, it may be remembered, is the politician who, on the occasion of the last legislative junket to Molokai, took occasion in a public speech to tell the inmates what unfortunate creatures they were, how sorry they ought to be for themselves, and how glad they ought to be that they had a cheerful weeper like himself to look after them and see that they are not allowed to die in misery and starvation. Tearful Willie escaped having any half-bricks thrown at him by the other members of the party who were thoroughly disgusted by his selfish tactics, but he will never be afforded another opportunity to make the inmates of the settlement feel more miserable than their natural state and dispositions make necessary.

FACTS IN THE MANUEL RICHARDS CASE

(From Saturday's Advertiser.)
Editor Advertiser:—In the second column of yesterday morning's edition of the Advertiser, there appears an article entitled, "Case Is Taken from Cathcart. County Attorney Will Not Be Asked to Appear in Manslaughter Case."

In justice to Mr. Cathcart, I desire to say that this article is misleading. The facts in the case are as follows:

A short time ago my attention was called to the fact that an indictment had been found against one Manuel Richards, charging him with manslaughter and that the county attorney's department was of the opinion that the evidence adduced at the coroner's inquest and before the grand jury was not sufficient to warrant an indictment.

I called upon Mr. Cathcart and learned from him and Mr. Milverton that the facts as stated above were correct, both Messrs. Cathcart and Milverton, however, stating that inasmuch as the grand jury had seen fit to indict, they would proceed to prosecute the case. A day or so later, Mr. Cathcart wrote me stating that because of his expressed views it would probably be better if I do so. Accordingly I consented. It seems to me, therefore, that I should make this explanation of the affair. Very truly yours,
ALEXANDER LINDSAY, JR.
Attorney-General.

Secretary Mott-Smith is having many troubles these days, not the least of which is concerned with the plebiscite. One of the things that has been worrying him in this connection is as to the form and wording of the ballot that is to be used. The text of the congressional resolution providing for the holding of the plebiscite is by no means as clear as it might be, and much is left to the intelligence and imagination of the man who has to take general charge of the election. But after much cogitation and several sleepless nights, Mr. Mott-Smith has evolved a ballot which he hopes will meet the exigencies of the case and which is submitted for comment, as above. If anybody has any suggestions or objection to make, Secretary Mott-Smith would like to know it before it is ever lastingly too late.

Mr. Mott-Smith states that he knows of no law by which he can declare July 26 a legal holiday, but there is a law which requires that all saloons be kept closed during voting hours.

GRAND JURY TAKES UP BRIBERY CASE

The territorial grand jury yesterday took up the Aylett bribery case in such a manner that it is evident that they believe in it sufficiently far to consider it worth the most thorough sifting. Late yesterday afternoon the body adjourned with its labor still incomplete and it will resume the investigation this morning at ten o'clock.

Witnesses were called who were not supposed to figure in the case at all and there is just a possibility that the final report on the matter will prove there to have been ramifications that have been hitherto unsuspected.

Aylett and Ahia were on the stand, the former once, the latter four times. Ahia is reported to have reiterated his statements made to the effect that no one approached him with any intention of offering him the $1600 bribe that Aylett claims was offered to the both of them.

His recall followed the summoning of witnesses who are supposed to have testified to the effect that they took part in conversations where Ahia mentioned the fact that he was offered a bribe.

Aylett repeated his story to the jury much as he gave it to the Advertiser with Willie Crawford's name in a prominent place. The latter was also summoned and a lengthy examination of his knowledge on the matter was indulged in. If, as he claimed, he knew nothing about it, it took a long time to find it out or else the inquisitors he claims is damaged by the assertion that he offered the bribe to the two supervisors to induce them to vote for the bitulitic pavement ordinance.

One of the witnesses was Mayor Fern, who was generally supposed to know as little as possible about the $1600. He stated afterwards that he told the grand jury nothing, "which was all I knew."

Several policemen were called, for what reason will come out later, but their connection with the case is at present unknown unless they were the ones who participated in the conversations where Ahia is said to have committed himself.

A. M. Brown was a witness called late in the afternoon and is supposed to have given further enlightenment on Willie Crawford.

Aylett has thanked the Advertiser for the fair way in which he says it has treated him, adding that he has told his story but that he can not prove it.

"It is my word against his," he says.

WAHINE KAPU CLUB ROBBED

Members Stripped of Jewelry and Money Early Sunday Morning.

(From Monday's Advertiser.)

Four hundred dollars' worth of personal property of the members of the Wahine Kapu Club was stolen between four and six o'clock yesterday morning while the victims were asleep. The burglars attempted to throw suspicion upon a Japanese by leaving a pair of Japanese sandals exposed upon a window ledge.

The Wahine Kapu Club occupies the old Larry Dee home, on Young street, adjoining the famous domicile of Attorney Chester Doyle. The club is open at all hours of the day and night. It is a hospitable home, and its doors remain wide open, that friends may enter and go as they please—likewise the club members. The members drifted home during the evening all the way from nine o'clock until two yesterday morning. Those who were still awake chatted awhile, invaded the pantry for a snack, and finally the only sounds were those of the deep slumberers, and this fact probably aided the entrance and movements of the intruders.

Some of the members closed their doors when the retired; others slept with theirs wide open. The moral of this particular early morning raid is, "Keep doors closed," for the burglars entered only those rooms with doors open.

The club members did not miss their property until late in the forenoon. A Japanese servant at that time asked a member to change a five-dollar gold piece. One member told the Jap to take the change out of his purse, which he said was lying on a dresser. The Jap reported it was not there. Investigation showed that the purse was missing, likewise some jewelry. The complete investigation showed that the intruder had gone through the house with a fine-tooth comb. Watches, rings, cuff buttons, shirt studs, stick pins, purses and odds and ends of jewelry had been taken.

Merle Johnson was an early riser, as he had to attend a shooting competition on the Fort Shafter range. He missed his purse and later his wallet before leaving the house, but he attributed their absence to a prank on the part of some friends with whom he had spent the evening. It was only when he reached Fort Shafter that he missed his gold watch.

An inventory showed that Merle Johnson had lost his gold watch, gold cuff buttons, purse and wallet; Martin Grune, purse and watch; Victor Hurd, cuff buttons and other jewelry, and other members reported property missing. Grune lost $25 in cash, Johnson $10 and Hurd $12. It is estimated that the loot represented a value of about $400.

The matter was reported to the police, and Chief McDuffie and officers inspected the premises. The empty purses were found in a nearby alley by the club members.

FAMOUS STORY TOLD IN GRAPHIC WAY

Additional proof that Dickens is always interesting if well interpreted was furnished last night, when Frank Speaight of London gave a reading of "Nicholas Nickleby" at the Kilohana Art League building. Mr. Speaight told the story of Nickleby's grim experiences and at the same time interpreted all of the important characters of the book in such a way as to win hearty applause from his audience.

He began by telling of the young hero's ill luck in losing his father and being compelled to call upon a miserly old uncle for assistance in supporting his widowed mother and his sister, and of the old man's sending Nicholas to the country boarding school of Squeers, a heartily old villain who persecuted his pupils with more severity than an ordinary person could imagine. Then he recited the incidents of the young man's heart-sickening efforts to get on with Squeers, which resulted finally in a fight over the beating of a poor cripple and Nicholas' flight from the place, taking poor Smike, who he had championed, back to London, whence they had come.

The fight scene was made melodramatic by Mr. Speaight, though he did not put too many thrills into it. After finishing the thrilling part of the narrative he sketched rapidly the last chapters, which dealt with the downfall and imprisonment of Squeers, the rescue of the twenty-five youngsters who were his persecuted pupils and with Nicholas' good fortune in finding a benefactor, who not only helped the boy himself, but furnished the mother and sister with a home in the suburbs of the city.

The novel was written for the purpose of breaking up many of the boarding schools in England in Dickens' time. Besides serving the main purpose, it remains one of the two or three hundred best stories in print.

Two things are necessary to the successful reading of such a story—clever, versatile acting and the carrying of the narrative all the way through. These Mr. Speaight accomplished with ease. His audience was not large, but it was appreciative. On next Tuesday night he will read "The Tale of Two Cities," and on Wednesday he will give "Gems From Dickens."

CHATTANOOGA CRIPPLED AT SEA

Cruiser en Route Here Lost Her Propeller on Last Saturday.

WAS TAKEN SAFELY IN TOW

Cruiser Cleveland Is Bringing the Disabled Warship to Port.

Four hundred miles to westward, the United States cruiser Chattanooga, with her port propeller lost, was in tow of the cruiser Cleveland yesterday morning.

Rear-Admiral Rees, U.S.N., commandant of the naval station, was notified by wireless yesterday that the accident occurred on Saturday and that both vessels are now coming toward Honolulu at such reduced speed that the vessels are not expected here until Wednesday. The vessels are en route to the mainland to be overhauled.

The cause of the accident is unknown, but not the slightest apprehension is felt concerning the safety and comfort of those on board.

The Cleveland was expected here yesterday, and waterfronters wondered why she was not signaled early in the day.

The Chattanooga is a protected cruiser, carrying ten guns. She is of 3100 tons register, with 4700 horsepower, and is driven by twin screws. She was built in 1903 and is a sister ship of the Cleveland, Denver, Des Moines, Galveston and Tacoma. She carries a complement of 203 men. In "Jane's Fighting Ships," a note with reference to all these ships gives the information that "these ships have practically no fighting value." In fact, one or two of the ships are doomed to be stricken from the active rolls of the navy lists and to be assigned as auxiliaries to the fighting craft. Following is the complement of officers of the Chattanooga:

Commander John D. McDonald, commanding; Lieut. Chandler K. Jones, Ensign Nelson H. Goss, Ensign John J. London, Ensign Roy L. Lowman, Ensign George A. Alexander, Ensign Roy L. C. Stover, Ensign Cortlandt C. Baughman, Asst. Surgeon Harry L. Smith, Passed Asst. Paymaster Robert B. Lupton, Boatswain Charles H. Foster, Chief Machinist Francis P. Mugar, Machinist Harry Champeno.

The Cleveland is commanded by Capt. Hugh Rodman, formerly attached to the local naval station staff. The other officers are: Lieut. Austin S. Kibbee, Lieut. Benjamin K. Johnson, Ensign John B. Rhodes, Ensign Weyman P. Beecher, Ensign Richard T. Keiran, Ensign George W. Kenyon, Ensign John M. Schelling, Ensign George H. Laird, Ensign Gratian C. Diehman, Asst. Surgeon Herbert L. Kelley, Passed Asst. Paymaster John H. Gonnell, Gunner Henry Rieck, Chief Machinist Charles A. Rows, Machinist Martin Huber.

THROW OUT THE LINE

Give the Kidneys Help and Many Healthful People Will Be Happier.

"Throw Out the Life Line"
The kidneys need help.
They're overworked—can't get the poison filtered out of the blood.
They're getting worse every minute.
Will you help them?
Doan's Kidney Pills have brought thousands of kidney sufferers back from the verge of despair.
Will cure any form of kidney trouble.

John L. Perry, Columbus, Texas, says: "About a year and a half ago I was taken sick with what I believed was kidney trouble. My limbs and feet began to swell and the doctor I consulted said I had Bright's disease. I received no relief from his treatment and consulted another physician. He told me I had dropsy and that my death was only a question of months. A friend, hearing of my condition, advised me to try Doan's Backache Kidney Pills. I procured a box and their use brought prompt relief. After taking the contents of a few boxes of Doan's Backache Kidney Pills, I was able to get around with ease. I can truthfully say I owe my life to the curative powers of this remedy. I always keep Doan's Backache Kidney Pills on hand and take a few doses occasionally with the best of results."

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box (six boxes $2.50) or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no substitute.
